

Investigation of the 1992 Postal Inspection Service Narcotics Trafficking Operation in Cleveland, Oh: Hearing Before the Committee on Post Office and ... Congress, First Session, November 29, 1993

Excerpt from Investigation of the 1992 Postal Inspection Service Narcotics Trafficking Operation in Cleveland, Oh: Hearing Before the Committee on Post Office and Civil Service House of Representatives, One Hundred Third Congress, First Session, November 29, 1993

The committee met, pursuant to call, at 10 a.m., in room 101, Law School Moot Courtroom, Cleveland State University, 1801 Euclid Avenue, Cleveland, OH, Hon. William Clay (chairman of the committee) presiding. Members present: Representatives Clay and Sawyer. Member also present: Representative Stokes. Mr. Clay. The committee will come to order. Today the Committee on Post Office and Civil Service will hear the testimony of individuals who were victimized by the 1992 narcotics sting operation conducted by the Postal Inspection Service of the U.S. Postal Service. Long before this hearing is over, I think you will agree with me that this disgraceful episode was the worst abuse of power by the Postal Inspection Service in its history. This fiasco has been disastrous from start to finish. For the innocent postal employees stung by this renegade operation, their lives and careers have been irreparably harmed. For the Postal Inspection Service, hundreds of thousands of dollars were wasted and its public standing tarnished beyond repair. What is purported to be a top-flight, professional law enforcement organization is revealed as a gang of undisciplined yahoos, out of control. Not only were their actions outside the bounds of decency, but somewhere outside the limits of law. In 1991 and 1992, the Postal Inspection Service hired convicted felons and placed them on the workroom floor of the Cleveland Post Office to convince postal workers to sell them drugs. Even worse, these felons were given carte blanche control over the sting operation, and control they took. In the process, they took the Postal Service for hundreds of thousands of dollars and took from 20 innocent men and women, their reputations, their freedom, and their employment. Postal inspectors never witnessed any alleged drug purchases. This enabled the felons to use actors - yes, I said actors, to pose as postal workers selling drugs.
