

Cobbs Island, Virginia: The Last Sentinel

When Mr. Nathan Cobb, Sr. purchased the island in 1837, a wide marsh extended itself along this inner side. One of its creeks ran directly from the broadwater towards the sea. Mr. Nathan Cobb, Jr. will tell you to day that he often sailed up this creek, fasted his boat and then, well - for awhile, Izaak Walton himself might have envied Uncle Nathan, for the head of this creek was a famous fishing place, known as The Deep Hole.
